

Exela Technologies Extends Digital Mailroom Solution and Deploys It for Small and Medium Businesses in the UK

June 30, 2021

LONDON, June 30, 2021 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Exela Technologies, Inc. ("Exela") (NASDAQ: XELA) today announced that the Digital Mailroom \(DMR\) platform is live and available for online signups for small and medium businesses (SMBs) in the UK. With the remote working trend getting wider acceptance, a greater shift is seen in the operations of SMBs where more people are opting to work from home for better flexibility. Exela DMR will now cater to this growing customer base across Europe, starting with the UK.

The DMR platform is already available for Exela's enterprise customers across Europe. Small and mid-sized businesses, start-ups, and individual professional in the UK can now signup for the Exela DMR, allowing them to get a virtual office address and receive their incoming mail as digitised documents accessible via the DMR portal. A multi-industry solution, it enables users to easily signup for the service and choose from flexible pricing plans. In addition to digitised delivery of documents, the DMR solution offers add-on services such as parcel delivery and several inbuilt features such as eSignature, data redaction and storage. You can easily signup and find out more about the DMR solution here.

"The way businesses and people work has changed dramatically. It seems that the work from home trend is here to stay and Exela's DMR solution provides a crucial and valuable service for seamless business processes. Our goal is to help businesses of every size to easily signup and start using the DMR solution," said Vitalie Robu, President EMEA, Exela Technologies.
